An Evening with Dr Ian Lillico

Dr Ian Lillico (father of three sons) is a former Principal, and international consultant in boys' education. He is the founder and CEO of the Boys Forward Institute and has provided professional development for teachers and parents for over ten years.

In his presentation Ian will discuss contemporary practices and theory in dealing with male students from birth to adulthood. Ian will share practical strategies relating to boys and ways of supporting them in school and life.

We are bringing Ian from Western Australia for this event, so I look forward to the community supporting this evening. I know parents will enjoy his presentation and look forward to you joining us.

"To hear Ian Lillico speak was so refreshing...The functionality of society and community is tied up with having well balanced boys. Ian gives to parents solutions on how to relate and interact with our boys. This understanding helps build quality relationships during those formative years. Absolutely a message our society dearly needs to hear and act upon."

"Ian's seminar was the best in-service I have attended in 22 years. His advice was practical, very interesting and easy to connect with ... Every teacher and parent of boys should have the opportunity to listen to Ian. I know I will be a better mother and teacher for having this opportunity. Thank you."

".... I felt this presentation by Ian was founded on respect - respect for boys, respect for their families, their schools and their educators. Not judgmental, not pessimistic, not patronising. I'm glad I went. I'll certainly be visiting the web site for follow-up PD."
